FRED'S FOOTSTEPS was created in memory of G. Fred DiBona, Jr., who was President and CEO of Independence Blue Cross and a leading force among Philadelphia's business executives for more than three decades. His life and career were a remarkable combination of public and private service, and he was passionate about lending a helping hand. In his name, the organization aims to follow in his footsteps of helping others and provides financial assistance to families in the Philadelphia area who find themselves in a financial crisis when a child is seriously ill, injured or disabled. Recognizing that caring for their children is the top priority, Fred's Footsteps identifies how to help hard-working families stay afloat during a difficult time. Funding has been used to offset lost wages, to pay household bills or to add home renovations or medical equipment needed for the child.
